No Way to Decide

Eight

If I could only say, what you had in mind
If I could only run, towards your words
If I could only change, the things that stop me moving
I would follow (in your footsteps)
All this time I'm running on
All this time I'm running...There's just no way to decide
(this time I'm running on)
There's not a lot of choice here
You're the only thing keeping me alive
(this time I'm running on)All this time I'll leave the light on, only to decide
