

Madrid

Nat King Cole

Madrid, Madrid
Where is my love
Why did you let me
Leave my love At the airport in sunny Spain
I had two hours to catch a plane
I was lonely as I could be
Until a senorita smiled at me There was music and sweet guitars
And in her eyes were a million stars
She was lovely beyond compare
And in that moment
I had learned to care
She was to me, a serenade
A melody that my heart had played
And all too soon, I had to go
She understood that I loved her so I waved goodbye, she waved goodbye
And from my window, I could see her cry
I went away and when I did
I left my heart with her in old Madrid
I waved goodbye, she waved goodbye
And from my window, I could see her cry
I went away and when I did
I left my heart with her in old Madrid Madrid, Madrid
Please tell my love that
She is all I'm dreaming of Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>