Sleep Alone

Heart

So long baby
Turn around
Loneliness hits you
Emptiness closes you down
Alone in his car
You think of his name
Took part of you with him
It won't be the same
You love to relive
The love that he gives
You love to recall
The rush of it all
He woos you so sweet
Then kicks on the heat
You're willing, you're hot
Give him all that you got
Lonely woman gets so cold
With no lover boy to hold
One more night she's on her own
Nobody meant to sleep alone
You're waiting too hard
Counting the days
Till he comes home
To lift you out of this haze
You dream all day
Climb the walls all night
No satisfaction
Till he makes it right
So hard to kick
The memory addicting you
So hard to lick
The romance afflicting you
You love to relive
The love that he gives
You love to recall
The rush of it all
Lonely woman gets so cold
With no lover boy to hold
One more night she's on her own

Nobody meant to sleep alone
No, nobody, nobody, nobody
Nobody, nobody will understand
