

Something Borrowed, Something Blue (live)

Ben Lee

Polystyrene, I wanna daydream
I need an enemy to get me through
Prodigal sunscreen, our love's a guillotine
Something borrowed, something blue Another ship sunk, family tree trunk
Deep scar diving, I look for you
And we're hoping and we're choking
Something borrowed, something blue I get the feeling I could leave you on the interstate
I get the feeling like I just broke through
I get the feeling like you never mattered anyway
Something borrowed, something blue It gets harder, my father
The way you managing the damage too
Polystyrene, I wanna daydream
Something borrowed, something I get the feeling I could leave you on the interstate
I get the feeling like I just broke through
I get the feeling like you never mattered anyway
Something borrowed, something I get the feeling I could leave you on the interstate
I get the feeling like I just broke through
I get the feeling like you never mattered anyway
Something borrowed, something blue Something borrowed, something blue
Something borrowed, something blue
Something borrowed, something blue Ten floors, I'm falling
Guess who I'm recalling?
Oh yeah, it's true
My life begins and ends with you I get the feeling I could leave you on the interstate
I get the feeling like I just broke through
I get the feeling like you never mattered anyway
Something borrowed, something I get the feeling I could leave you on the interstate
I get the feeling like I just broke through
I get the feeling like you never mattered anyway
Something borrowed, something blue Something borrowed, something blue
Something borrowed, something blue
Something borrowed, something blue
