Underoath

So follow me to the empty ocean We can watch the city descend Behind the skylight And on our backs, we float away And forget about the way it used to be Tonight I fail But I never wanted To let you drown without me Tonight we are the only ones To watch it fall apartWe slide into our place Where I can watch you swim Don't forget my hands Still wrapped around your neckWe fall deeper into the ground This nights never looked so hollow I wanted to share this with you, with youI'll wait till it opens up again Sit here till the water reaches our necks Finally get to watch them Wash away my nameTonight I fail But I never wanted To let you drown without me Without meOpen your lungs Follow me down Open your lungs Follow me downI set this off Keep swimming, keep swimming Oh God, I am emptier than you
