

Let It Rain

David Duchovny

If you knew me you would stay
If you knew me you would walk away
We don't get black and white
Ours is only shadowed light

This is how it goes
One year's golden and the next one blows
It could be I am wrong
Mistaking breaking dusk for dawn
You see I've heard of this before
My glass ceiling could be your ground floor
If I knew better I would stay
If I knew better I would walk away

Like the earth that splits and moves
Woman by her fault known
I don't see crack and seals
Only see how the light gets in
The grey sky it threatens rain above
As our love it threatens pain, my love
You can't hurt the one you already left behind
Walk it back baby take another breath rewind
And let it rain
And let it rain

There is nothing you could do
To make me turn my back on you
There is nothing you could say
I've imagined worse anyway

The waves break on the shore
The shore it only waits for more
Like the earth that splits in moves
A woman by her faults known
I don't see cracks and seals
Only see how the light gets it
The grey sky it threaten rain above
As our love I threatens pain, my love
You can't hurt the one you've already left behind
Walk it back baby take another breath rewind

And let it rain

Let it rain

Let it rain
