Something To Cry To

Ingram Hill

You stepped off my porch
And shuffled right through those leaves
Well, I can't say for sure
But you've given me back that rain
And you always said, you like the sad ones best
I know it ain't much but it's the best I can do

It's just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when I'm gone
Just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when you're wrong
'Cause baby, I'm gone

Well, you spin the dial
But there's nothing that you wanna hear
Well, we can talk for miles
But we've driven down off those years
And you always said, you like the sad ones best
I know it ain't much but it's the best I can do

It's just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when I'm gone
Just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when you're wrong
'Cause baby, I'm gone

Underneath the way maybe, I'm wrong
Don't look back these days, hey

And you always said, you like the sad ones best
I know it ain't much but it's the best that I can do

It's just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when I'm gone
Just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when you're wrong

Just something to cry to
It's something to cry to when I'm gone
Just something to cry to

It's something to cry to when you're wrong
'Cause baby, I'm gone, baby, I'm gone
'Cause baby, I'm gone, baby, I'm gone
