Flowers for a Ghost

Thriving Ivory

You disappear with all your good intentions
And all I am is all I could not mention

Like who will bring me flowers when it's over

And who will give me comfort when it's coldShe took a plane to somewhere out in space

To start a life and maybe change the world

See I never meant for you to have to crawl

No I never meant to let you go at allDon't ever say goodbyeSee my head aches from all this thinkin'

Feels like a ship God, God knows I'm sinkin'

Wonder what you do and where it is you stay

These questions like a whirlwind, they carry me awayWho will bring me flowers when it's over?

And who will give me comfort when it's cold?

Who will I belong to when the day just won't give in?

And who will tell me how it ends and how it all begins? Don't ever say goodbye I'm only human

I'm only human

I'm only human
