

Melancholic Night

Jean B. Gerbier

Melancholic night

I

Oh, how I loved you, what have driven you to jealousy, reconciliation is what I am begging you for, courage life will smile for you and I again. If throughout your journey you meet someone else don't you ever forget we have to make our dreams come true.

Chorus

No more melancholic night, no more lonely night, Courage life will smile for you and I again, reconciliation is what I am begging you for.

II

Oh, I am sorry, I was too young playing games here and there.
close your eyes, while I touch you with breath from deep down my soul, feel the love that engulfed your heart with joy, replenish to make you feel like a born again, who've submerged under the Holy water.
