

Feel What You Want (Instrumental)

Kristine W

The sun rises at nine, departs at five

Ain't doing overtime no more

Because in this world of color

The brightest picture is plugged right into your wall And maybe there's a million people singing shoe shine blues

To no one that they've ever met before

And indifference is a drug that I see people buy

At the local store, local store You, you, you think a little love is all you need

But love is such a small thing, can't you see?

I think you'll find it lives in the colors

And brightens this picture you see I say you just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel, what you want it to be, oh, oh

You just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel, what you want it to be The man in the moon has a cold

In the back of his head today, so dark is the river

As the old bridge of lovers finds it's getting washed all away There are three wise men in the darkness of the desert

Still trying to be finding their way

The tables have been laid and the food has been served

But the cost of the eating is too much for most to pay You think a little love is all you need

But love is such a small thing, can't you see?

I think you'll find it sits in a book

And changes the words that you read You just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel

What you want it to be, oh oh You just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel

What you want it to be You think a little love is all you need

But love is such a small thing, can't you see?

I think you'll find it lives in the colors

And brightens this picture you see Well, you just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel

What you want it to be, oh, oh You just feel what you want it to be

What you want it to feel

What you want it to be Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to be Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to be Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to be Feel what you want it to

Feel what you want it to
Feel what you want it to be
Feel what you want it to
Feel what you want it to be

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>