

Falling Out Theme

Boy Sets Fire

So heres the door
I changed the lock and time
Ten minutes past I love you
(Gotta fight the urge to start again)Despite the cost or rhyme
We lose and change our minds
Before we even tryCircles, corners, gravity forces us
Back to where we started from
Love and weapons kill much the same way
With shaking hands, we start againThis stagnant air feels cold and unaware
As I fight the urge to kiss you
(Every instinct says just walk away)
Attempt and fail again, envision at the end
That we could make it rightCircles, corners, gravity forces us
Back to where we started from
Love and weapons kill much the same way
With shaking hands, we start againI believe
Please, please heal me
Your eyes so revealingCircles, corners, gravity forces us
Back to where we started from
Love and weapons kill much the same way
With shaking hands, we start again
We start again withCircles, corners, gravity forces us
Back to where we started from
Love and weapons kill much the same way
With shaking hands, we start again
