

Heart Can Hold

September Mourning

Every devil wants a halo and every angel wants to play
You think you're so together and you won't give up your ways
Forgive me if I need love and if it's not too bold
But who knows really how much my heart can hold
I need to know how much your heart can hold
And in my hands the weight of solid gold
A heart like yours was meant to hurt
It's not what you deserve
I need to know how much your heart can hold
I've given you my reasons but they only weight you down
The fears, the hopes, the treasons that tie me to the ground
Forgive me if I need love and if it's not too strong
But I've been holding on forever and forever is too long
I need to know how much your heart can hold
And in my hands the weight of solid gold
A heart like yours was meant to hurt
It's not what you deserve
I need to know how much your heart can hold
Fear destroys the soul
All hope is lost, I promise always
A savior to myself
I'm not afraid to die alone
We'll break apart and you'll turn to stone
I need to know how much your heart can hold
And in my hands the weight of solid gold
A heart like yours was meant to hurt
It's not what you deserve
I need to know how much your heart can hold
And in the end the heart that breaks is the only one that learns
I need to know how much your heart can hold
And in my hands the weight of solid gold
A heart like yours was meant to hurt
It's not what you deserve
I need to know how much your heart can hold
I need to know how much your heart can hold
(I need to know how much your heart can hold)
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>