Journey Unknown

Insomnium

I'm rushing through the cosmos,
Reaching the light from the beyond the sun
I see my self dissolving, as universe locks me into its arms
When you dream of the sea of stars
And in the sky the northern lights flame
Sometimes do you remember, hear the silence between the worldsSwirling surges of plasma, permeate me as i continue my fall
Distorted dimensions swarm around me,
Flickering a while, soon lost to sight
And all these shapes I've seen
Always through thick darksome mist
Become now clear vision of consternation and aweInto soothing silenceI lapse,
Under your guarding eyes I rest
At the gates of your kingdom,
I bow down and enterDomed stellar colonnades outline the arch of the sky
A scene from here to eternity and everything that betwenn lies
The grandeur of all existence, reveals me now pass my closed eyes
And as my slepp turns ever deeper, I'm really awaken for the first time
