Different Worlds

Magnum

On narrow streets
Old men lie
In the doorway sleeping
While working girls
Comb their hair
See the young men peepingDifferent worlds
Only a walk across the street
Different worlds
You never know what you might meetNo satin sheets on your bed tonight
How you feeling
While running feet always disappear
>From sirens screamingDifferent worlds
Only a walk across the street
Different worlds
You never know what you might meetSome of us take what we want
Some of us take what we need
Some of us break
Some of us bleedWhere velvet gloves and your diamond rings
Lose their meanings
For those who we love if they realy care
Keep on dreaming
Dream onDifferent worlds
Only a walk across the street
Different worlds
You never know what you might meetSome of us take what we want
Some of us take what we need
Some of us break
Some of us bleed
