

Don't Follow Me

Flying Scribble

When I step on board that big jet plane
I'll be leaving our love behind
I hope its wings will carry me somewhere
I can mend this heart of mine So don't follow me, don't follow me
I'm bound to a place I can't recall
I feel the big jet's rise through midnight skies
I'll search for the answers alone
And wait for the time to go home Hear the wind outside, blowin' loud and strong
Hear the mighty engines moan
I'll be far from here when the sun comes up
And a love that has grown so cold So don't follow me, don't follow me
I'm bound to a place I can't recall
I feel the big jet's rise through midnight skies
I'll search for the answers alone
And wait for the time to go home I feel the wheels touch down
As I awake from the dream I left with you
I hope a better day will find us soon
The love we thought to be true So don't follow me, don't follow me
I'm bound to a place I can't recall
I feel the big jet's rise through midnight skies
I'll search for the answers alone
And wait for the time to go home
