

Child Of The Universe (Chorus) (Live @ Mix 106.5)

Delta Goodrem

I grew up to be myself
Still I feel there's something else
Look at all the satellites
Colliding in the sky We meet and we divide
The patterns made by human life
Look at all the stars tonight
They're writing in the sky Together we are all alone
All trying to make it home In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And the only thing you are is a child of the universe
In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And with everything my freedom's worth
I'll be a child of the universe I am brave but I am scared
I am lonely but I'm prepared
We are all connected
Without knowing who we are Together we are rolling stones
All trying to make it home In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And the only thing you are is a child of the universe
In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And with everything my freedom's worth
I'll be a child of the universe In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And the only thing you are is a child of the universe
In this world if it's the only thing I've ever learned
Is that everything you love can hurt
And with everything my freedom's worth
I'll be a child of the universe
I'll be a child of the universe
Child of the universe
