A Day In The Sun

Death By Stereo

a life withut fun is what i dont know.a life on the run is what i have to show.a day in the sun is what i wish for now,a day in your arms is what i long for how.you cant go back.no you cant go back,in time i cant show you,i cant show you my life.well ill tell you,yeah ill tell you a time when i was king.when i felt i was dying.one more day to change my ways,one more day to fight the pain.one more day to make the grade,i wont live my life in vaine.one more day to touch your face,your more day to state my case.one more day would be so dear.one more day to kill my fear.one more day to touch the son,you and me we are the ones.if i could change the face of time,i wouldnt make it rewind.keep on pushing for today,one more day so we can play.let me know that its ok,let me know that your ok.from the day that i was born,i never knew much scorn.until he opened up my eyes,showed me the truth inside the lies.it was a time when i was feared,a time i was revered.there was a path i could not walk,a language i could not talk.the voices i could not hear,the fists they reigned so clear.ill try again tomorrow,blinkyour eyes ill disappear.fuck.fight.hate.crime.fuck.this line.king me.
Thanks to ALEX for these lyrics

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/