

This Time

Andreas Johnson

Sunday morning, you wake up
This might be the perfect day
You turn to me and whisper
And I agree to what you say In every little move we make
In every single way we come together
The spirit of your love's so strong
It's bringing me down this time, this time Sunday morning
We find ourselves fading from a photograph
Well, you let the daylight in
Now you wonder why this love won't last In every little move we make
In every single way we come together
The spirit of your love's so strong
It's bringing me down this time, this time
(This time) Now this won't hurt you
Now this won't make you feel so bad
Now this won't hurt you In every little move we make
In every single way we come together
The spirit of your love is so strong
It's bringing me down this time, this time, this time
