Stains

All These Kings

We loom and we pray,
and we crawl,
all around the room.

And we feed off our own,
stained inside by all we hide.

And we're always apt to say
we'll never feel the same,
it's not a lie,
it's already in you now

And we're always apt to say
we'll never feel the same,
it's not a lie,
it's already in me.

The stains we hide
always rely on believing the lie,
carved out in your mind.

The stains we hide
bury us all alive inside,
'til it wears you out.

We're covered up,
we're covered now
in stains

The stains
The stains
The stains

We aim for the light,
we avoid our eyes,
and try to feel like we're alone.

Stained inside by all we hide.

We're always apt to say
we'll never feel the same,
it's not a lie,
it's already in you now.

We're always apt to say
we'll never feel the same,
it's not a lie,
it's already in me now.

The stains we hide
always rely on believing the lie,
carved out in your mind.

The stains we hide bury us all alive inside,
'til it wears you out.

We're covered up,
we're covered now.
in stains.

The stains
The stains
The stains
The stains

The stains we hide
always rely on believing the lie,
carved out in your mind.

The stains we hide
bury us all alive inside,
'til it wears you out.

We're covered up,
we're covered now,
in stains.

The stains.
