Carried Away

Custom Kings

Something's wrong with you I see
Your eyes have turned a shade of empty
In my arms you pushed aside
Wondered if you'd ever be alright again
And try to fix what's goin' on inside of you
There's no reason to be afraid
You can't blame yourself
For the world's mistakes
Now it's time to let it go
Look out, look in and realize
You always get so carried away
There's times and things you can never change
Don't get so carried away
Even now you hide behind
Those imitations in your mind
Through every act
From the middle to the end
You have played the part as your only friend
You steal the rush
From the hands of time
And they'll never to catch up with you

There's no reason to be afraid
You can't blame youself
For the world's mistakes
Now it's time to let it go
Look out, look in and realize
You always get so carried away
There's times and things you can never change
Don't get so carried away
You need to find out what's for real
And know how I wish you would understand
And listen
Look out, look in and realize
You always get so carried away
Look out, look in and realize
You always get so carried away
There's times and things you can never change
Don't get so carried away

Look out, look in and realize
You always get so carried away
There's time and things you can never change
Don't get so carried away
