Giving Everything Away for Free

Daniel Merriweather

I'm gonna build a raft and set it on the water there
Hoping she will come, see the thing I made
What a thing I madeToday I'm gonna sail even if she doesn't show
The ocean can decide, love is like a wave
Love would never failHope she gets here soon
I hope she isn't far away
But if she is, I'll sail anywayEveryday that I love her I kill myself
It happens over and over, there's no one else
And I try to forget her but look at me
Giving everything away for freeAnd when I'm out at sea, I'm gonna write a song for her
I'll sing across the bay, hoping she will hear
Hoping she will hearI think she's in her car and just above the [Incomprehensible]
To hear my serenade beckoning her near
Beckoning her nearAnd then she's gonna swill
I didn't build my raft in vain
But if I did, we'll both drown anyway'Cause everyday that I love her I kill myself
It happens over and over, there's no one else
And I try to forget her but look at me
Giving everything away for free
Giving everything away for free, freeDrown me, it'll stop the pain, if my love's in vain
'Cause I knew, I knew she'd never come
'Cause she couldn't bear the ocean
She couldn't stand the wavesSo everyday that I love her I kill myself
It happens over and over, there's no one else
And I try to forget her but look at me
Giving everything away for free
