

Ole Fishlips Is Dead Now

Chiodos

Away with the shades clouding all the stars and across the sky.

[Spoken:]

...I looked so beautiful but just as desperate.

A victim with a plague with rage reaching to the sky.

I'm chewing on my teeth and staring into a black hole...

She's in love, she's in love, she's in love with herself.

And I never should have trusted someone else with my insides.

Goodbye never feels complete, there's always one word missing.

I want to forget you.

You've broken everything I love

Took all my light and turned it into dusk.

I regret all I gave you.

You've broken everything I love

And I can't wait to be myself again.

I feel the separation, I feel it deep inside my bones.

I know you're sharing beds with strangers in sharp corners.

Goodbye never feels complete, there's always one word missing.

I want to forget you.

You've broken everything I love

Took all my light and turned it into dusk.

I regret all I gave you.

You've broken everything I love

And I can't wait to be myself again.

I just can't wait, away with my insides.

This is love.

This is love.

I want to forget you.

You've broken everything I love

Took all my light and turned it into dusk.

I regret all I gave you.

You've broken everything I love
And I can't wait to be myself again.

This is love.

This is love.

This is love.

This is love.

This is love.
