Suddenly

Nathan Johnson

Everything you do, everything you don't Everything you left behind to find me
Is finding me alone

And everything you give, everything you take Everything? I thought I knew about you
Made me realize my mistake

So why you gotta wait
For what you gotta say
Hours in the day and you let me get away

I can see the fuze, the flame
The Philomena that's burning always, always
But if we focus on the false
We find we're focused on the facts that keep us running
And we're running out of time

So why you gotta wait
For what you gotta say
Hours in the day and you let me get away

And suddenly what we've become is suddenly done
It's only me and suddenly
I miss everyone

So why you gotta wait
For what you gotta say
Hours in a day
I was here today
And you let me get away

Lyrics submitted by maeva.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/