Winter

The Sound

I'd like to sleep one hundred days
My feeling has gone, flesh cold and numb
I'm staring into winter,
I'm staring into winter.All's slowing down, snow in the wheels
Frost on the ground, ice cuts the seal
That opens up old wounds
That lets in the winterMemories and hopes are all that I have
But are they all I need, will they see me
Through this winter?
Through this winter?
I'd like to sleep one hundred days
My reason has gone, flesh cold and numb
At least let me sleep through the winter,
At least let me sleep through the winter.
