Been Away Too Long

Soundgarden

You can?t go home boy, I swear you never can
You can walk a million miles and get nowhere
I got no where to go ever since I came back
Just filling in the lines for the holes, and the cracks
No one knows me
No one saves me
No one loves or hates me
I?ve been away for too long
This place has a s?ecial kind of falling apart
Like they put the whole thing together in the dark
No one knows where the edge of the knife is
And no one knows where intelligent life is
No one knows me
No one saves me
No one loves or hates me
Going straight
I only ever really wanted a break
I?ve been away for too long

No I never really wanted to stay
I?ve been away for too long
I?ve been away for too long
I?ve been away for too long
Keyholes, through key holes
[Widows through metals]I am still hiding everyone inside
Tank girls and fly guns and slippers and boots
On my way home
Going straight
I only ever really wanted a break
I?ve been away for too long
No I never really wanted to stay
I've been away...
Going straight
I only ever really wanted a break
I?ve been away for too long
No I never really wanted to stay
I?ve been away for too long