

Andy Warhol (3:59 Of Fame)

Evan And Jaron

Was he a painter?
Underground major?
Wasn't he conspiring with Ralph Nader
Sunday afternoons in Central Park? Was he a writer?
A freedom fighter?
Did he make your world a little brighter
Mondays after dark? Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know
Now he's painting passersby
In his corner of the sky Was he a thinker?
A heavy drinker?
was Nixon wrapped around his finger
I've heard Crazy Ali swear he was Was he a controller?
A hip rock 'n' roller?
Did he realize the war was over
Or let them go on just because? Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know
Now he's painting passersby
In his corner of the sky While Lou's still walking on the wild side
While Lou's still walking on the wild side Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know
Now he's painting passersby
In his corner of the sky, the sky Now I've been working Nights at the diner
Where a soup can serves as my reminder
Did he ever draw JFK? Has anyone seen him?
Talked to him lately?
Would you tell him that I'm waiting
Sunday afternoons in Central Park? Andy Warhol had to die
Andy Warhol had to die

Andy Warhol had to die
Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know why Andy Warhol had to die
We don't know why
We don't know
Now he's painting passersby
In his corner of the sky, the sky, the sky, the sky
