

Blue Guitar

Ronnie Earl

Once I knew a man
Showed me the slight of hand
Blink of an eye, he danced across the strings
Played a song I'd never heard
Poignant and absurd
To this day, it leaves me wondering
Don't let tomorrow find you wishin'
 Boy you've got a mission
 Shake it, rattle and roll
 Now, just use your intuition
 You'll get less competition
 From the clock up on the wall
 You are what you are
 You dream what you dream
 Play on your blue guitar for me
 Play me a serenade
 A simple masquerade
 Play on your blue guitar for me
 Yeah
 'Cause we'll all make believe
 Someone to deceive
 Time is just a folly we can't see
 If you only know one song
 Play it right or wrong
The truth is always somewhere in between
 You and I, we can't change the weather
 We're all in this together
 So let the strong winds blow
 Now things will be much better
 Don't become a prisoner
 The reason you should know
 You are what you are
 You dream what you dream
 Play on your blue guitar for me
 Play me a serenade
 A simple masquerade
 Play on your blue guitar for me
 Don't let tomorrow find you wishin'
 Boy you've got a mission

Shake it, rattle and roll

Ah, now, just use you intuition

You'll get less competition

From the clock up on the wall

You are what you are

You dream what you dream

Play on your blue guitar for me

Play me a serenade

A simple masquerade

Play on your blue guitar for me

You are what you are

You dream what you dream

Play on your blue guitar for me

Play me a serenade

Red wine or lemonade

Play on your blue guitar for me

You are what you are

You dream what you dream

Play on your blue guitar for me

Play me a serenade

A simple masquerade

Play on your blue guitar for me

You are what you are

You dream what you dream

Play on your blue guitar for me

Lyrics provided by

<https://damlyrics.com/>