Gone (Acoustic)

coldrain

The small simple lies poison everything
One by one killing all of the memories
Now it's time to put this heart
Out of its misery
'Cos I've been dying, dying for too longThe small simple lies poison everything
One by one killing all of the memories
You can take what you want
And leave when you please
But just remember I'm not waiting for you
No I won't wait for you
(The ship has sailed and I'm over you)I swear I gave you anything and everything
Every little piece of me
But all you did was look away
And when I said I've had enough, I'm moving on
You said your love was never lost
I guess you didn't realise
Until all of it was gone
'Til all of it was goneThe pain and the fights never seem to end
Every night wondering if we're even friends
Now it's time to put this love out of its misery
'Cos it's been dying, dying for too long
Dying for too long
(If you're in pain that's how you belong)I swear I gave you anything and everything
Every little piece of me
But all you did was look away
And when I said I've had enough, I'm moving on
You said your love was never lost
I guess you didn't realise
Until all of it was gone
All of it was goneAll the years and the tears that I wasted on you
The regrets I will take to the grave
But I won't be missing you
Missing you, no, noI swear I gave you anything and everything
Every little piece of me
But all you did was look away
And When I said I've had enough, I'm moving on
You said your love was never lost
I guess you didn't realise
Until all of it was gone

Dying for too long
('Till all of it was gone)
You said your love was never lost
I guess you didn't realise
Until all of it was gone
