

The Third Temptation Of Paris

Alesana

The Horizon, now as dark as the crimes that brought them here is filled with,
My impending dread,
My Foolish Actions,
Will cost so,
Many Good men.
Achilles has come,
A thousand sails approaching,
Sent here in her name to reclaim the one i stole,
and destroy the,
Walls of Troy.
Desire, Leaves me numb,
To all the pain surrounding me,
To all the pain surrounding me,
Storms will arise,
to condemn me,
I will not die before her eyes,
It ends tonight.
tragically I now must accept the penance I have earned she is cursed and tonight we die in the dawn of this, my end, I hold my sword true I must let her go...
a thousand sails approaching
sent here in her name to reclaim the one I stole and destroy the walls of Troy desire leaves me numb to all the pain surrounding me storms will arise to condemn me
I will not die before her eyes...
It ends tonight
It ends tonight, I am alone
Pain fills her eyes, I am alone
I must save my honor, I cannot let them win, the Blood of many spills Sacred and profane is our love in death.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>