Constant Angel

Ramin Karimloo

I have watched you fall
Through those tender years
And every time I thought there must be more that I could do
You found a light
A different way out there in front of youI am in your eyes
Just that close to you
And now I see your innocence against a troubled sky
Everything you once believed is now a question why
Its okDont lose your faith
Dont turn away
Everything that makes you who you are will not lead you astrayWhen it gets cold
Too dark to see
Reach in your soul and find me there,
Ill always be
Your constant angelWho could ask the years
To keep its truth from you
There will be times you wont believe in much of anything
Thats when youll find the grace of God in just surrendering
Its okDont lose your faith
Dont turn awayEverything that makes you who you are will not lead you astrayWhen it gets cold
Too dark to see
Reach in your soul and find me there,
Ill always be
Your constant angelIn every prayer
I am constantly there with youDont lose your faith
Dont turn away
Everything that makes you who you are will not lead you astrayWhen it gets cold
Too dark to see
Reach in your soul and find me there,
Ill always be
Your constant angel
