

Something

Seventh Day Slumber

Well I see the winds have changed now
Why'd they have to change today
My eyes are drowning in this sea of pain
The world is closing in on me I'm slowly sinking in my insides
A float is sinking inside me
My eyes are cold, black, and empty
Can anybody set me free? Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you
Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you Passion is the only friend I have It's better lying to me
My eyes are blurring as I fight to stay alive
Bound and broken on my knees Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you
Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you Why would we live? Let the healing begin
Why would we live? I'm suffering, I'm suffering
Why would we live? Let the healing begin
Why would we live? I'm suffering, I'm suffering Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you
Oh, I need something
I need something more, I need you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>