

An Evening I Will Not Forget

Dermot Kennedy

When love was found
I kept my hope just like i'd hoped to Then sang to the sea for feelings deep blue. Coming down We've had problems that we've grown through
But i bet you dream of what you could do. At seventeen i was alright
Was like nothing i could feel inside
And wishing you were here tonight
Is like holding on. But i still get to see your face, right?
And that's like nothing they can take, right?
So there won't be no feeling in the firelight
Hoping this will be right
Time to show your worth child. I remember when her heart broke over stubborn shit
That's no way to be living kid
The angel of death is ruthless. And i'm always thinking summertime with the bikes out pushing our luck getting whiped out
Days with nothing but laughing loud. Underneath my coat won't you tap my shoulder, hold my hand
Nights with nothing but dark in there
You can be my armour then. Islands smiles and cardigans
The nights that we've been drinking in We're here to help you kill all of this hurt that you've been harbouring. Confessions should be better planned
Alone, that night, I'm surely damned
Run away, I'll understand. What's important is this evening i will not forget Purple, blue, orange, red
These colours of feeling, give me love, I'll put my heart in it. i think about it all the time
The lights went out, you were fine
You kinda struggle not to shine. I still love you though (x2), i still love you always. So hold me when I'm home, keep the evenings long
Crack and break and part ways. I still love you though (x2), i still love you always. So hold me when I'm home,
keep the evenings long
Crack and break and part ways. And i wonder if i can let it down. (Melody) It's for real, it's for real.
It's for real, it's for real.
