

Since You're Gone

Mojo Blues Band

Since you're gone

I had a little bit of heaven, a glimpse of paradise,

You gave me all the sunshine, your look could to melt the ice.

Since you're gone, Lord I just don't understand -

My heaven turned into hell, and my paradise into dry land. You've been so nice and kind in any way,

Nobody in this world will ever take your place.

Since you're gone, Lord I just don't understand -

My heaven turned into hell, and my paradise into dry land. The flowers need some water, the fish needs the see,

I need your love, I need your company.

Since you're gone, Lord I just don't understand -

Haven turned into hell, and my paradise into dry land. Interlude The flowers need the water, the fish needs the see,

I need your love, I need your company.

Since you're gone, Lord I just don't understand -

Haven turned into hell, and my paradise into dry land. I don't go for diamonds and I don't need no gold,

I just need your lovin' until I'm grey and old.

Since you're gone, Lord I just don't understand -

My heaven turned into hell, and my paradise into dry land.
