

Call You Tonight (feat. Johnta Austin)

Whitney Houston

The stars must be aligned tonight
I believe this has to happen baby
Lightening had to strike to tonight
'Cause the two of us are finally meetingIn this place at this time
I feel sane when I look in your eyes
Feel like I know you from another life
It makes me wish I wasn't so pressed for time[Chorus]
I can't catch my breath 'cause you take it away
The best writer in town, could not find words to stay
Now there's so many things I want to get to know
I wish that I could stay but I got to go
So I'm gonna call you tonight
I will baby, just as soon as I get time alone
I'm gonna call you tonight, I will baby
Just as soon as I get homeThat's the way it goes in life
You get busy when you just don't want to
There's never enough time in your life
You have to make it baby, so I'm goin'Make a way to connect
'Cause your face is what I can't forget
I feel like I know you from another life
And it makes me wish I wasn't so pressed for time[Chorus]Destiny, I believe in it
Meant to be, don't you see it's possible
That for this kind of magic you think I'm having
And if you want to know... then stay by the phoneYou stay by the phone[Chorus]
