

Endless Nights

Eddie Money

Lover, I just can't believe it's turned
You're tearing my life apart now
There's no simple answer
Here I am, just standing in circles And the logic is turning me 'round
My mind keeps holding only one thought: When you gonna call? I think it's worth the time
How you gonna change all these endless nights?
If you could stop leading me around
You're never gonna change all these endless nights Tender, the way that you touch me now
Taking our fears away now
There won't be a reason
Just a well-rehearsed explanation Though the love that is turning inside
Keeps on twisting, twisting my mind When you gonna call? I think it's worth the time
How you gonna change all these endless nights?
If you could stop leading me around
You're never gonna change all these endless
Endless nights
I wish that you could change all these endless
Endless nights And the hope that is holding me here
Is starting to die - oh, no, is it ever gonna stop? When you gonna call? I think it's worth the time
How you gonna change all these endless nights?
If you could stop leading me around
You're never gonna change all these endless
Endless nights
I wish that you could change all these endless
Endless nights
All these endless, endless nights, now When you gonna call? I think it's worth the time
I wish that you would call, now
When you gonna change all these endless
Endless nights?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>