

No Average Angel

Tiffany Giardina

Stupid chosen, blind ambition blowin' up the television
It's your life, a never ending video
Prada shoes and frappachinos, Gucci bags and Valentinos
One hit wonders blarin' from the stereo Why are you fascinated, I'll never be outdated
You think I'm less than perfect
But don't you know I'm more than enough? You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene
An air brushed model on the silver screen
Why can't you see I'm no average angel
I'm no average angel? I'm not in designer jeans, I don't need plastic surgery
And I don't really care who's in my own top eight
Won't trade my reality for anything that's on TV
No, not for all the bling that's on the VMA's I'm not an imitation, not into duplication
You think I'm less than perfect
But don't you know I'm more than enough? You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene
An air brushed model on the silver screen
Why can't you see I'm no average angel
I'm no average angel, I'm no average angel? I can't wait forever, make it now or never It's my precious time you're wasting
Chasing something that's not real You think you need the latest drama queen making a scene
An air brushed model on the silver screen You think you need the latest drama queen, making a scene
An air brushed model in the magazine
Why can't you see I'm no average angel
I'm no average angel, I'm no average angel
I'm no average angel, I'm no average angel?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>