

Blame It On the Girls

MIKA

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

He's got looks that books take pages to tell
He's got a face to make you fall on your knees
He's got money in the bank to thank and I guess
You could think he's living at ease Like lovers on the open shore, what's the matter?
When you're sitting there with so much more, what's the matter?
While you're wondering what the hell to be
Are you wishing you were ugly like me? Blame it on the girls who know what to do
Blame it on the boys who keep hitting on you
Blame it on your mother for the things she said
Blame it on your father, but you know he's dead Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys
Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys Life could be simple, but you never fail
To complicate it every single time
You could have children and a wife, a perfect little life
But you blow it on a bottle of wine Like a baby you're a stubborn child, what's the matter?
Always looking for an axe to grind, what's the matter?
While you're wondering what the hell to do
We were wishing we were lucky like you Blame it on the girls who know what to do
Blame it on the boys who keep hitting on you
Blame it on your mother for the things she said
Blame it on your father, but you know he's dead Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys
Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys
Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys He's got looks that books take pages to tell
He's got a face to make you fall on your knees
He's got money in the bank to thank and I guess
You could think he's living at ease Blame it on the girls who know what to do
Blame it on the boys who keep hitting on you

Blame it on your mother for the things she said
Blame it on your father, but you know he's deadBlame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys
Blame it on the girls
Blame it on the boysBlame it on the girls
Blame it on the boys
