

Escape from Hellview

CKY

the fire dies on it's own leaving us to ourselves but not exactly alone I think that someone is out there waiting anticipation has grown the air is black as can be can't even see that my hand is infront of me I'm overhearind a whisper "they won't escape until the blood is set free"so turn back the silence is deafening turn back don't let them see you again they make their rounds at the midnight hour and on the clock it's just a minute awayso we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed and the huger for the living helps them hunt it with the greatest of easenow I'm finding my friends hanging from trees, made a bed of a barb wired fence I'm on the loose with my neck in the noose but hey...
I enjoy the intenseturn back the silence is deafening turn back don't let them see you again
they make their rounds at the midnight hour and
on the clock it's just a minute awayso we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed and the hunger for the living helps then hunt it with the greatest of ease no experience could never match the sight of when a person is through if it's the last thing I will do i'll be the one who will escape from hellview...and I willturn back the silence is deafening
turn back don't let them see you again they make the rounds at the midnight hour and on the clock it's just a minute away [twice]so we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed and the hunger for the living helps them hunt it with the greatest of ease no experience could ever match the sight of when a person is through if it's the last thing I will do I'll be the one that will escape from hellview...and I will.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>