

But, Anyway

Splender

I think I've had enough, I think I might erupt
 Im looking for some information
 Its digging in the skin, whenever I begin
Theres gonna be a complicationI take another breath, its deeper than the rest
 Im swimming to the final breaker
 Its sitting in my mouth, I wanna get it out
I wanna know when somethings onBut, anyway, I just cant be myself today apparently
 But, anyway cause nothing seems to come to me so easily
 But, anyway cause I mistake my memories for company
But what a day, I've gotta say, I cant believe in myself todaySitting on the bed, everything finger spread
 Looking for some motivation
 If I can offend, Ill try to fit it in
And I dont need an explanationI think I better wake, Im starting to deflate
 Im looking for some compensation
 I'll never understand, Ill never be a man
When I dont know when something's onBut, anyway, I just cant be myself today apparently
 But, anyway cause nothing seems to come to me, not possibly
 But, anyway cause I mistake my symphony for suffering
Oh what a day, I've gotta say, I cant believe in myself this wayAnd I'll face it face down the long way
 And I'll face it face down the long wayI think its got an end, I think its gonna bend
 I think I got a new impression
 So tell me how I look, tell me what I took
To try to keep the conversationI think Ill get it right, Im fucking with the light
 Ill turn it to the situation
 Im doing what I can, I never understand
When I dont see when something's onBut, anyway, I just cant be myself today apparently
 But, anyway cause nothing seems to come to me so happily
 But, anyway cause I mistake my memories for company
But what a day, I've gotta say, they're getting harder to separateBut, anyway, I just cant be myself today apparently
 But, anyway cause nothing seems to come to me, not possibly
 But, anyway cause I mistake my symphony for suffering
But what a day, I've gotta say, I cant believe in myself todayI cant believe in myself today
 I cant believe in myself today
 I cant believe in myself today
 I cant believe in myself today