Shellshocked

B.Brock

Lies won't save you from the bomb that you just dropped
I'm standing shell shocked but I'm still here
And this to you is what I'm saying
All that's false will fade awayYou run away from what you know will surely come
I will remember everything that you have done
And this to you is what I'm saying
All that's false will fade awayI'll say it again because who are you to say to me
That I'm not all right you don't know what it's like
I'm shellshocked and ripped apart inside
No, I'm not all right, you don't know what it's likeWell, yeah, a change in character is great
And if it's what you need to say
It's probably what I need to hear
But never again in that wayI don't care what I'm doing that's turning you off of me
It's my care for pursuing our friendship responsibly
That means I need to reconstruct what happens subconsciously
So we don't continue to treat our silence so obnoxiouslyLies won't save you from the bomb that you just dropped
I'm standing shellshocked but I'm still here
And this to you is what I'm saying
All that's false will fade awayI'll say it again because who are you to say to me
That I'm not all right, you don't know what its like
I'm shellshocked and ripped apart inside
No, I'm not all right, you don't know what its likeI'll say it again because who are you to say to me
That I'm not all right, you don't know what its like
I'm shellshocked and ripped apart inside
No, I'm not all right, you don't know what its likeWell, a change in character is great
And if it's what you need to say
It's probably what I need to hear[Inaudible]

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/