Religion

Ten Years After

Never really understood religion
Except it seems a good excuse to kill
I never really could make a decision
Don't suppose I ever really will
I can't relate to any power structure
Where ego is the driving energy
I let mine go long, long time ago, now
When I decided that I would be free
Only thing I understand is living
Biggest sacrifice to make is death
Once you're dead, there's nothing left for giving

The life means fighting your every breath
I can't relate to any power structure
Where ego is the driving energy
I let mine go long, long time ago, now
When I decided that I would be free
Only thing I understand is living
Biggest sacrifice to make is death
Once you're dead, there's nothing left for giving
The life means fighting your every breath
