Sometimes You Can Forget Who You Are

Fm Static

Every day I get a little closer to
The things that I wanna say with my life in no particular order
I'd like to make some sort of mark
So that the world knows I was here
And I've been thinkin' about how I could scream it out loud
Or paint a picture somehow a thousand miles long
And I've been tryin' till now, these walls are freakin' me out
Just need to let it all out and reach out
Because sometimes you can forget who you are
I'm tired of tryin' to make it
I've spent so many nights tryin' to get it all right
I'm sick and tired of waitin' for someone to see and start believin' in me
But I know I'm not out here on my own
Every year I get a little farther from old misconceptions
That take the place of mistakes and lessons
There's things I've learned from things I've been burned from It's part of who I am
And I've been thinkin' about how I could scream it out loud
Or paint a picture somehow a thousand miles long
And I've been tryin' till now, these walls are freakin' me out
Just need to let it all out and reach out
Because sometimes you can forget who you are
I'm tired of tryin' to make it
I've spent so many nights tryin' to get it all right
I'm sick and tired of waitin' for someone to see and start believin' in me
But I know I'm not out here on my own
There's been a lot of people think I'm goin' no where Times that by ten for every time I felt like turnin' around
But every time you said push on and keep your head up
Kept me on track from lettin' myself get fed up
I'm tired of tryin' to make it
I've spent so many nights tryin' to get it all right
I'm sick and tired of waitin' for someone to see and start believin' in me
I'm tired of tryin' to make it
I've spent so many nights tryin' to get it all right
I'm sick and tired of waitin' for someone to see and start believin' in me
But I know I'm not out here on my own

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/