The Other Side

Emile Haynie

(Ooh)I can only hope to slip away from them all

Because it numb my pain

That I was never quite enough for you

I was never quite enough for you

(It's hard to have nowhere to go)I can only hope to slip away from them all

Because it numb my pain

That I was never quite enough for you

'Cause I was never quite enough for you

(It's hard to have nowhere to go)All my thoughts, all my dreams

All got caught in-between

All of my heart was never quite enough for youAnd I will fight my way, I know

To the other side

Where you don't even matter no more

You're running out of time

I will fight my way, I know

To the other side

Where you don't even matter no more

You don't even matter no more(You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

(You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

(You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

(You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

I can only hope to slip away from them all (You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

Because it numb my pain (You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

That I was never quite enough for you (You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)

(Where you don't even matter at all)

I was never quite enough for you (You get caught in the fire when we launched it up)
(It's hard to have nowhere to go)All my thoughts, all your dreams (And I will fight my way, I know)
All got caught in-between (To the other side)

All of my heart was never quite enough for you (Where you don't even matter no more)

You don't even matter no more
