Water Into Whiskey

Goldenchild

Verse 1
He turned my water into whiskey, and it made me a believer
He didnâ€™t want to do it, but then I changed his mind
When he baptized me in bourbon, Lord, it quieted my fever
For my sins I need a spirit stronger than wine

Now the one thing Iâ€™ve been runninâ€™ from just sidled up beside me
Like no time had passed between us, you flashed that wicked smile
But redemption for my broken heart wonâ€™t come to you that easy
So Iâ€™ll stick with the liquor, son, and get you off my mind

Chorus
I never find it worth the comedown, honey
I never find it worth the comedown, honey
One look in that mirror, and I wonâ€™t be in that line
I never find it worth the comedown, honey
And I wonâ€™t be going with you tonight

Iâ€™d rather sell my soul to the devil than put my faith in you So give me something that I can believe in Something more than a glimpse of heaven with the hell still showing through â€™Cause Iâ€™m done with that brand of deceiving And I wonâ€™t be taken this time

Verse 2
Most times Iâ€™m victim of my self-induced trials and tribulations
A self-made Job with a heavy load, a martyr when the sun goes down
But you came along to test my faith and left me begging for salvation
And I couldnâ€™t hold a candle to the wreck you left behind

I no longer hear your whitewashed fiction with the ears of a stranger
My worthless physicians tried to warn me all along
No matter how the story starts with you, the ending never changes
Youâ€™ll take more than youâ€™ve given and leave me hanging by a song

Repeat Chorus

Bridge
I donâ€™t need to feel like Iâ€™m king of the world for a second on a Saturday night
Just to wake up to the weight of the world dragging me beneath the morning light

You can get me high

I never found you worth the comedown, honey
