Poinsettia

Mwahaha

I jump out, of my window, to my roof and down into the snow so I can see you so tell me what you wanted, are you making love to time beware of too much darkness, but avoid too much sunso tell me what you wanted are you making love to time have they fooled you into thinking that you made up your own mind
so I can see youbeware of too much darkness but avoid too much sun the woods will be dark where we're going there and the valleys will rise up and fuck the mountains and the discos all burned down because the DayGlo ran out. the passengers don't seem to care when or if we ever get there the cat caught on fire, jumped off his wire there's no stopping where we are going palm trees sway we'll rip those bad dreams from our heads
