

Space

Something Corporate

Home,
Is this the quiet place where you should be alone?
Is this where they're tortured and the trouble find their own?
I don't know, but i can tell this isn't you, your cover is blown.
Oh no, don't you dare hang up this phone Hey give me space so I can breathe
Give me space so I can sleep
Give me space so you can drown in this with me In this place,
A lonely escapade in outer space,
There's not antidote for irony you say
That you have, when you know that you don't
And you say that you care when you know that you won't. Hey give me space so I can breathe
Give me space so i can sleep
Give me space so you can drown in this with me Hey, give me space where I can breathe
Give me space where i can sleep
Give me just one inch I swear that's all I need These padded walls and TV screens
Sometimes they make me want to scream Hey give me space so I can breathe
Give me space so I can sleep
Give me space so you can drown in this with me Hey give me space where I can breathe
Give me space where i can sleep
Give me just one inch I swear that's all I need
