

The Hunt

The Agonist

Enter the city that never rests
From the fear of waking in the lion's den
Let the joyous hunt begin Place your blindfold to the task
Victim by day, culprit by night
The enemy hide right beneath your mask Empty the barrel on the glass
Cause the gun cuts both ways - cuts both ways!
As you're drawn to the spiral
The clock will count your days - count your days! The infection is contagious
Acceptable crimes, punishable acts
Bang bang - kill them all!
You're the critical being, rotten to the core
Flesh stung by a wasp
And the stinger falls to the ground
Empty the barrel on the glass
Cause the gun cuts both ways - cuts both ways!
As you're drawn to the spiral
The clock will count your days - count your days! I'm a monster in their eyes but they fail to see
They created... me
They created... me Empty the barrel on the glass
Cause the gun cuts both ways - cuts both ways!
As you're drawn to the spiral
The clock will count your days - count your days - count your days! Pour that man another
The things he's seen, the things he's done
His hat and cloak, the antidote
If the man wants to clear his debts
Who are we to subdue his struggle?
He might let you bleed if you're nice
Salvation always has a price Relax
It will all be over soon
My face the last thing you will see
Relax
The pain will go away
As I carry your body off
Into the arms of an old friend They look at him as the savior
His raven eyes watch through dome of glass
His heart races and his palms they, they sweat
As he etches another in his book He might let you bleed if you're nice
Salvation always has a price Relax

It will all be over soon
My face the last thing you will see
Relax
The pain will go away
As I carry your body off
Into the arms of an old friendA familiar friend returns
To take back what was borrowed
A familiar friend returns
I will greet him with a smileA familiar friend returns
To take back what was borrowed
A familiar friend returns
I will greet him with a smileA familiar friend returns
To take back what was borrowed
A familiar friend returns
I will greet him with a...
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>