Over the Bridge

Alta View

I'm not proud of what I am, I'm proud of what I can be do you respect yourself thriving off those you call luckyI should've went home when I could I let you get close, never thought you would I swear I'll understand this, what's out of reach constantly forgetting what you made up all alongI'm not proud of what I am, I'm proud of what I can be do you respect yourself thriving off those you call lucky designed to drain us and keep us in line your routine is evidence of your failures in lifeJust another lost boy in your head so go on and make your bed there's no one you wouldn't lie to, you'd love to drown in the next drink he buys you I promise he's not listening though you claim that your honest intentions are making this right of course he agrees so you'll swallow the liesDon't ever tell me I got stuck on this just because I didn't smile doesn't mean I'm upset I'm over the bridge, just not eager to feel itYou think you're entitled to your brand new mistakes and your latest excuse you're invincible for now I'm counting on the day that you're all burnt out you're ugly when you're proud but I know there'll be a day where you tell someone you hate me
