Living Proof

Amber Pacific

You can take what you'll say
I won't care that you have reasons to believe
That I'm living in this fear
You can take what you'll say
I won't care that you have spent you time on me
I've learned from life to sacrifice this all
Hold me now as my world crashes down
Can't you see that they push me away
Here that sound as our times running out
If you give me the chance
I will make you believe everything
I can take what you'll say to me now is a flame that's burning out

I'm not living in this fear
I can see that this is how
You'll find out that this is more then anything
How much it means to fit this scene seems wrong
Hold me now as my world crashes down
Can't you see that they push me away
Here that sound as our times running out
If you give me the chance
I will make you believe everything
Hold me now as my world crashes down
Can't you see that they push me away
Here that sound as our times running out
If you give me the chance
I will make you believe everything
