

Oak Tree

Lua Maria & Adrian Freedman

I will go to where this river goes and I will walk to where the big trees grow and to where yet i do not know but i have trust in this rivers flow and in the end
time, time will show
big old oak
big oak tree
300 years of stillness
300 years of calm witness
i listen for the whisper of the silent one
i listen for the whisper of the silent one where, where next
speak, speak these trees i donâ€™t yet know iâ€™m just following my feet
i donâ€™t yet know iâ€™m just listening inside of me
you hold my hand as i walk these sacred lands carry my soul as we live and we grow old your branches, they dance with the wind we play and by your side my heart forever stays

wise old man teacher of me
silver haired man spirit of this oak tree i offer up myself in service of thee for you stand in majesty and i bow down on my knees for in our hands we hold the wisdom of this earth and the guardian i surrender protect my mother lands
